

Welcome to Estia Health Parkside, our aged care home located in the inner-south of Adelaide, South Australia

Estia Health Parkside is a warm and intimate home in a character-rich suburb adjoining Adelaide's city fringe parklands. Situated on a quiet residential street, the home is close to local cafes and shops, as well as public transport for the short ride to the city centre.

The experienced clinicians, carers and hospitality teams look after all aspects of a resident's care, including clinical, social and overall wellbeing, as well as dementia and palliative care services, which can be accessed for short-term respite care or a longer stay.

The home is elegant inside and out, with spacious communal areas and manicured courtyard gardens. There is a library and a hairdressing salon, as well as a private dining room that can be booked for special events. Residents enjoy daily activities tailored to their interests with bingo, arts and crafts and visiting entertainers on the calendar. Rooms are single or companion, for couples who wish to live together, and many either open to the courtyard or have views of the surrounding gardens.

Location

“It was a very painful exercise putting our dear mother in a nursing home, but our angst was somewhat alleviated by the fact that she was in a safe environment, cared for by gentle affectionate, compassionate and understanding employees. Thank you once again and may God bless each and every one of you.”
